Limitations

- Any scheduled downtime for hardware or software maintenance “regular maintenance” will not apply towards this downtime calculation.
- Any emergency downtime for hardware or software maintenance “emergency maintenance” will not apply towards this downtime calculation.
- This SLA does not apply in any situation where downtime is caused by, or could have been prevented by the Customer.
- This SLA will not apply in circumstances where downtime has been caused by forces beyond the Company's “span of control.” An example of this would be example carrier outages and natural disasters.
- SLA does not apply to any DigitalStakeout data partner connectivity or data collection disruption.

“Regular Maintenance” means any planned maintenance scheduled by DigitalStakeout. DigitalStakeout will notify Customer in writing (including via email) at least 48 hours prior to any Regular Maintenance.

“Emergency Maintenance” means any maintenance or unplanned outage that must be performed promptly, regardless of time of day / busy hour that impacts or may impact the integrity, security or availability of DigitalStakeout services. DigitalStakeout will give written notice (including via email) of Emergency Maintenance to Customer as far in advance as reasonably possible and will promptly notify Customer in writing (including via email) of any event or unplanned outage.

“Span of Control” means those areas of functionality and technology, including hardware and software used in the provision of the DigitalStakeout Services, that are reasonably under the direct control of DigitalStakeout but expressly excludes any: (i) a Force Majeure event; (ii) software or hardware not provided or controlled by DigitalStakeout or its subcontractors, subsidiaries, agents and/or affiliates; and (iii) outages elsewhere on the Internet, including but not limited to interruptions at any Customer or third party data center or ISP, cloud provider, data provider, that hinder Customer’s access to the DigitalStakeout Services.

Service Level Agreement (SLA) Terms

All SLA claims must be filed by opening a ticket in the Portal support site within 7 days of the incident. The ticket must include a full description of the incident. All SLA credits will be issued as service credits against future invoices.
